

Presented by:

SONY

Levin Furniture

When Levin Furniture decided to construct a new showroom in Monroeville, PA in 2005, President Robert Levin made a point to take the environment into consideration by promoting renewable energy. To accomplish this goal, Levin partnered with Solar Power Industries to install a PV solar system.

The new Monroeville showroom is one of the first retail furniture stores in the nation to use solar power. The PV solar system provides 10% of the store's total energy needs. For their efforts, Levin was presented the 2005 Green Power: Turn It On! Award from Citizen's For Pennsylvania's Future. This award is reserved for individuals and organizations in the Mid-Atlantic Region who promote clean, renewable energy. In addition to the award from Penn Future, Levin also received a 2008 Waste Watchers Award, which honors companies that promote reducing, reusing, and recycling throughout the year.

Levin Furniture, a family owned and operated business, is proud to be an environmentally sensitive retailer. Levin continues to protect the environment through the implementation of several conservation and energy efficient initiatives.

